Superior Rooms at Mykonos Grand feature
"SPA Bathrooms" New for 2009

Having just won a host of awards with Trip Advisor, the five star Mykonos Grand in Greece is already thinking of new ways to please its guests this summer. Available from May 2009 will be the luxury hotel's newly renovated Superior Rooms which have been hailed as a retreat within a retreat!

The Superior Rooms offer breathtaking views of the Aegean Sea from each balcony, while the lavish and open plan "SPA Bathrooms" come fully equipped with an egg shaped deep soaking tub, separate walk-in rain shower and a relaxing steam cabin. These bathrooms are also blessed with panoramic ocean views reaching as far as the sacred island of Delos.

Additional touches to these ultra modern rooms include an electronic “Do Not Disturb” sign, 32 inch flat screen TV’s, DVD players (hotel offers an extensive DVD library) and the ever useful Ipod dock.

Rates for the Superior Rooms start from €255 per night (approx £230)

NOTE TO EDITORS:

The Mykonos Grand is a unique resort on the beautiful island of Mykonos in Greece, barely three miles from Mykonos Town, on one of the island’s most famous beaches Ayios Yiannis known for the glorious sunsets as seen on the movie Shirley Valentine that was filmed here. The resort’s Cycladic architecture of cube shaped whitewashed buildings linked by pathways and terraces is combined with classic interior ambience. The hotel offers 107 bedrooms and suites including Superior sea view rooms and luxurious Suites with private pools. The hotel’s gourmet Dolphins of Delos Restaurant offers a dramatic open air dining experience with stunning views. In addition the Aqua e Sole Restaurant is a tranquil poolside location. The resort’s facilities include an outstanding spa, tennis and squash courts, an impressive stone-built amphitheatre for inspiring yoga sessions and the recently renovated fitness centre. Mykonos Grand is a member of “Small Luxury Hotels of the World”.
